

]

In his book "Calm in Chaos" Father George Rutler writes of an anthropologist attending a meeting with his peers in Geneva Switzerland being shown two skulls and told they belonged to Saint Augustine remarked that the smaller skull must have been when Augustine was a younger man.

